The following is a list of guidelines that each Advisor(s) and Co-Advisor(s) must abide by during the 102nd NAACP Annual Convention:

- Ø Advisors acknowledge that the NAACP has a zero tolerance policy regarding behavior that is deemed inappropriate; resulting in immediate dismissal of said youth member from the convention at the cost of the said youth's parents or guardians.
- Ø Advisors must ensure that each member of the Youth Unit has their name badge on at all times. (Students without name badges will be denied admittance to youth activities and will be sent to the Advisor immediately.)
- Ø Advisors must attend every youth social event or the members of their respective Youth Unit will be denied admittance into the social. (Advisors and Co-Advisors may alternate in shifts.)
- Ø Advisors must ensure that Youth Unit members are punctual at all events, respectful of others, and well equipped with the necessary tools to attend meetings, workshops, and events. I will also monitor the behavior of my youth and agree to compile with any necessary disciplinary actions needed after consultation with NAACP staff and security.

As Advisors it is imperative to remember that the purpose of the National Convention is to develop policies and programs of the Association and to review the year's accomplishments.

It is important that you keep in mind it is to your benefit to send as many responsible representatives to the National Convention as possible. The experience and knowledge gained by serving on committees, attending workshops, and plenary sessions are unforgettable.

I, _____Advisor/Co-Advisor of the Youth Unit understand and agree to the aforementioned and am willing to ensure that all members of the Youth Unit receive the necessary training and behave responsibly to make the 102nd NAACP Annual Convention successful.
